

FAQ – YOGA TEACHER TRAINING

 How much experience do I need to join the Yoga Teacher Training?

Our Yoga Teacher Training is suitable for yoga practitioners from all levels of practice; beginners, intermediate and advanced. The course is structured in such a way that each person starts at the same point and works their way systematically and consistently to the end. We encourage students from all backgrounds with different levels of experience to join the course.

We believe that a seasoned practitioner can learn plenty from a less experienced practitioner and vice versa. Having students with different levels of experience on the course ensures that the classroom environment is reflective of the type of students that will make up your class when you go on to teach. The most important point is that you are in a healthy condition and disciplined.

 What style of yoga will I learn?

We follow the classic Indian traditions of Hatha and Vinyasa Yoga. Yoga is a vast subject area with many traditions and styles, our course include the study of Hatha, Raja, Bhakti, Jnana, Kriya and Karma Yoga. Our course is based on a systematic and progressive learning approach designed to get trainees teaching safely and effectively.

If you are interested in a fitness oriented TTC, please think twice before you sign in for our Yoga Teacher Training. We teach a traditional Indian Yoga, which includes Asana, Mantras, Meditation, Pranayama and other spiritual practices. These techniques are used to balance body and mind, and are essential. There are many different yoga styles, and it is important that you understand this point. If you decide to quit the course because you feel that the style of yoga does not suit you, we are not be able to give any refunds. As the style of yoga we offer is clearly stated on our website and also in our primary email.

 Will I have the opportunity to actually teach on the course?

Under the supervision of our senior teachers, you will learn from the really beginning, how to structure and guide beginner and intermediate classes.

We will increase in teaching skills little by little, this way you will gain knowledge and most importantly, self confidence.

 Will I be qualified to teach when I graduate and at what level?

Our aim is to ensure that our graduated trainees can lead high standard and professional beginner and intermediate classes with confidence, ease and safety.
